

Macro Area Tutors

The Macro Area tutors are a “tool” designed for the IUIES MAs students to help them developing their final dissertation.

The macro-area tutor guarantees a specific educational approach aimed to develop the students’ abilities on research methodology and scientific work elaboration.

This approach includes methodology consulting, analysis and comparison of the research process among students and monitoring and coordination of students’ scientific works.

It also ensures a continuous exchange of information to orientate the student towards collaboration on research and teaching activities, providing suggestions for conferences and research projects.

Hereby you can find the four macro area tutors names, specializations, contacts and office hours. All the appointments will take place in the IUIES office building.
